

Motivic integration and Harish-Chandra characters

Julia Gordon and C. Cunningham and L. Spice

The values of Harish-Chandra character of a representation near the identity element in the p -adic group encode a lot of information about the representation. In this talk I'll discuss how one can use motivic integration to show that these values are algorithmically computable in many cases.